The Korean Cultural Center Los Angeles is pleased to present the online project- Korean Pottery "Story of A Thousand Years" which will be uploaded to KCCLA's YouTube channel. This online project was designed for the KCCLA audience to conveniently enjoy our programs through numerous online platforms such as the KCCLA official website, YouTube, Facebook and Instagram.

The first episode is introduced by Dr. Do-hun Kim (Ph.D of Ceramic Engineering & Ceramist), who tells us an interesting introduction to Korean Pottery, focusing on the history of pottery, types of pottery & clay, and characteristics of Goryeo celadon. Dr. Do-hun Kim also speaks about his father, Sechang Se-yong Kim, Master hand of Ceramic, his 50 years of trial and error of recreating Goryeo celadon.

The second episode is introduced by Ms. Young-Shin Kim (Ceramic Artist & Educator), and Dr. Do-hun Kim (Ph.D. of Ceramic Engineering & Ceramist), who tells us about Korean Pottery (Buncheong Sagi & White Porcelain), focusing on the history of pottery, types of pottery, and characteristics of Buncheong Sagi & White Porcelain. Through the stories of the two ceramic artists, we hope that it will be time to see how modern ceramics are expressed informative pottery using materials and methods such as white Porcelain and Buncheong.

These two videos will be introduced on the website of the Korean Cultural Center in Los Angeles(www.kccla.org), YouTube Channel, Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter.
